

Today the first new trees were planted on Cyril and Methodius Street

Wednesday, 3 March 2021

Today the first trees were planted on Cyril and Methodius Street. Its overhaul, which began last year with the replacement of underground plumbing infrastructure, is well advanced. There are already sections with newly built sidewalks and prepared tree nests. It was there that they planted the first few maples, imported from the Netherlands. These are already developed trees aged between 12 and 15 years, specially selected for urban environments. You can read more about them
