The end of the first course in Japanese language and culture at PGKPI in Burgas was marked with an online event. The gaze was on Japan - forward into the future, backward into the past, and today when the students touched this magic.

Thanks to the financial support of the Japan Foundation - The Japan Foundation for three months, students of different grades - had the opportunity to touch the language and culture of Japan, to be inspired by the achievements of this nation - an example in every way and most already in the field of robotics and technology.
