"Burgas is a beautiful story. I like it more and more every year, I always give it as an example of a modern European city." This was shared by the author of the bestseller "18% gray" Zahari Karabashliev during a meeting with his fans at the Library. The occasion was the presentation of his latest novel, "The Tail".

The famous writer was the first author to present his book in the new cultural space in Burgas. He told interesting moments about the history of the novel and gladly shared with the audience what are his small and big inspirations, interesting events from his life overseas, the challenges of new social realities, isolation, the pleasure of raising a kite.

Zahari Karabashliev did not hide his enthusiasm that the presentation of his novel is taking place in a new library.

"Seeing a new library is a real event. It hasn't happened in my life, I don't think it has happened for hundreds of years. This is not just a library, this is a home of spirituality," said the author.

The presentation of his book was attended by Mayor Dimitar Nikolov, Deputy Mayor Diana Savateva, intellectuals and journalists.
